RAIL STRIKE NEGOTIATIONS ARE RESUMED

Rev. Fr. Gaffney Will Deliver Baccalaureate Sermon Sunday

Honor Students to Give Talks At Commencement May 29

Baccalaureate service at 8 p. m. Sunday in the high school auditorium will open the final week of school for 170 graduating seniors at Salem High school.

Actually, only 159 members of the class will take part in the service, since 21 persons who will receive diplomas with the class of 1946 are war veterans and have not indicated whether they will be able to participate.

Commencement exercises in the High school auditorium at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday will feature addresses by Harvey Walken, first honor graduate, Velma O'Neil and Duane Yeagley, on the theme "One World."

Walken's subject will be "The United Nations," Miss O'Neil, "Lasting Peace," and Yeagley, "Coming to An Understanding With Russia."

Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic church, will deliver a sermon entitled, "The Return From The Temple," while four other members of the Salem Ministerial association, Rev. George D. Keister, Rev. R. J. Hunter, Rev. C. F. Evans and Rev. Robert E. Mosher, will assist in the ceremonies.

Wear Caps and Gowns
Members of the class held their last baccalaureate practice today. Commencement seats were assigned yesterday in senior home rooms. Caps and gowns will be worn Sunday.

Paced with one of the earliest graduating dates in history, the class will practice commencement exercises next Monday and Wednesday mornings, preparatory to final exercises which will be held at 8:15 p. m. Wednesday in the school auditorium.

The baccalaureate program is as follows:
Processional, "Praise Ye the Father" (Gounod); hymn, "Adeste Fideles" (Wade); invocation by Rev. George D. Keister; Scripture reading, Rev. R. J. Hunter; prayer, Rev. C. F. Evans; a solo entitled "My Cathedral" (McNeill-Blaughe) by Thomas Williams; sermon, "The Return From The Temple," Rev. Fr. Richard Gaffney; hymn, "Coronation" (Holden); benediction, Rev. Robert E. Mosher; and recessional "Priests' March" (Mendelssohn).

Traffic Check On Route 164 Is Made

Sgt. J. A. Bowers and State Patrolman S. W. Lucas, working with Mahoning county deputy sheriff, yesterday conducted a traffic check on Route 164, just west of North Lima.

Thirty-five correction orders were given out to motorists and two arrests were made. Both motorists arrested were cited into court by county officials.

Patrolmen yesterday arrested Joseph Lucarelli, 37, of Youngstown, on a charge of reckless operation. He was fined $15 and costs by Mayor Hugh E. Dickson of Canfield.

Salvatore Derando, 20, of Youngstown, was fined $100 and costs by Mayor Walter Hunston of East Palestine on a charge of using fictitious license plates.

Salvatore Derando, 20, of Youngstown, was fined $5 and costs by Mayor K. T. Gormley of Columbiana yesterday on a charge of crossing a freshly painted center line on a state highway.

Feted by Foundrymen

CLEVELAND, May 24—Benjamin D. Fuller of Lakewood last night was guest of honor at a meeting of the Northeastern Ohio chapter of the American Foundrymen's association, Fuller, a Whitehead Brothers Co. salesman, and five others of the Cleveland area with 60 or more continuous years of service in the industry, were honored.

RAIL STRIKE CUTS OFF OHIO DAILIES' SUPPLY OF PAPER

(By Associated Press)
Already somewhat reduced in size, Ohio newspapers today face drastic further slashes as publishers eye dwindling newsprint backlogs.

Practically all newspapers would be pared to a few pages of essential news by the paralyzing general rail strike as a means of stretching the supply of paper.

"We'll throw out all advertising to put out a paper for the public, if worse comes to worse," said Andrew F. Wiley, business manager of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

Advertising was reduced for three days last week, Wiley said, and on Sunday and Monday of this week, but the pinch had eased somewhat today.

Others Follow Suit
The Enquirer's decision generally was echoed by the state's publishers.

Today's editions of the Toledo Times appeared without advertising, except death notices, and the Times announced that the policy would continue during the railroad tie-up.

Ohio's bleak newsprint situation merely is a miniature of the national picture. Loggers' strikes on the Pacific coast and coal shortages on the eastern seaboard have muddled the newsprint situation seriously.

Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers' association, yesterday urged publishers throughout the nation to conserve their stocks because of uncertainties in the coal, transportation and wood-cutting industries.

The Columbus Dispatch reported a three-week supply of paper on hand, as compared with the allowable 30 days, and the Ohio State Journal had an 18-day supply and expected to cut its papers 33 to 40 per cent with the rail strike.

The Akron Beacon Journal planned a 50 per cent cut in size to stretch out its 25-day supply.

MORE DEADLY THAN A-BOMB

U. S. Develops Germ Spray That Could Wipe Out Cities

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 24—A germ spray reportedly capable of wiping out large cities and entire crops at a single blow is this country's newest secret weapon "far more deadly than the atomic bomb."

This disclosure leaked out of congress today after the first bare hint was dropped on the floor of the house yesterday.

Sketchy details of the frightening germ weapons were provided by members of the house appropriations committee who learned of their development behind guarded doors.

These members, specifying that their names not be used, told a reporter full details were given the committee during hearings on the Navy's $4,639,718,000 appropriation bill which the house passed yesterday and sent to the senate.

There are several of the germ weapons, one member said, adding they have been developed to the point where they could be used whenever necessary. Also, he said, the United States is the sole possessor of the secrets involved.

"They have developed a weapon that can wipe out all form of life in a large city," this member declared. "It is a germ proposition and is sprayed from airplanes that can fly high enough while doing it to be reasonably safe from ground fire. It is quick and certain death."

Another development, this committee member related, would make it possible for planes to fly over the Dakotas, for example, and destroy the entire wheat crop with a single operation, even the seeds in the ground.

First disclosure that the navy had developed the new and terrifying weapon came from Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex.), also an appropriations committee member, who told the house yesterday during debate on the navy supply bill.

"We have something far more deadly than the atomic bomb today—not tomorrow—and, furthermore, it's in usable shape."

Officer Bitten: Mayor Warns Dog Owners

Mayor R. R. Johnson issued another warning today to Salem dog owners to keep their pets confined to their own properties following an injury to Police Capt. Nerr Gaunt Tuesday afternoon.

Gaunt, called to pick up a stray dog, was bitten on the hand by the animal, which is now being held by the humane society for a 21-day period to determine whether it has rabies.

Mayor Johnson warned Salemites that rabies is spreading throughout the Columbiana county area and that provisions must be taken here to be sure the disease doesn't make headway.

The mayor reiterated his previous demand that dog owners keep their pets tied to their own properties. Stray dogs will be shot or impounded.

Urges Airport Plan

COLUMBUS, May 24—The Ohio Aviation board should have a "master plan" of airports and facilities ready for the federal government's construction program six months hence, says State Sen. Fred L. Adams, chairman of the aviation committee of the Ohio Post-war commission.

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 24—The Postoffice department today declared a mail embargo which will limit service to local deliveries and first class and air mail out of town items. Under the order, a weight limitation of 16 ounces is placed on first class (letter) mail and air mail.

Postmasters Authorized To Invoke Embargo Order

The Postoffice department said today local postmasters could order a complete or partial embargo on acceptance of mail without asking for the department's permission.

An official told reporters: "A postmaster continues to accept mail only when he knows it is going to move out by normal transportation methods. If the mail is not moving out, he can refuse to accept it since most postoffices lack storage space."

Only first class and air mail letters are being accepted at the Salem postoffice today, Ray Reasbeck, superintendent of mails, disclosed. Mail is being received and dispatched from Youngstown by truck with three trips daily, at 8:45 a. m., 2:30 p. m. and around 6 p. m. Mail deliveries, likewise, are being made to surrounding communities from the Salem postoffice via truck routes.

PAYLESS PAYDAYS FOR SHERIFF'S DEPUTIES LOOM

Because Sheriff George Hayes is overpaying payroll funds allotted to him for the year, county commissioners today called him into conference in an effort to assure payment of county law enforcement officers' salaries next month.

County Auditor I. J. Vornran notified the sheriff and commissioners that payroll checks will not be issued to sheriff's deputies after July 1 unless some arrangement is made to either cut costs to conform with current appropriations or appropriate more money to pay salaries.

One Too Many
The difficulty has arisen as a result of the re-hiring of Deputy Cornelius Csepke, a discharged veteran, and the failure by the sheriff to remove anyone from his staff since Csepke's return.

Commissioners had sent a letter to Hayes requesting that he meet with them today to iron out the problem, but Hayes was not in Lisbon. His office was notified today that he must meet with the commissioners Monday.

The appropriation for 1946 law enforcement totaled $9,225 and Hayes already has used $4,465 of that sum in payroll checks for five months, Vornran said. He indicated that if the rate continued, no payroll checks could be drawn during the final two months of the year.

The commissioners have made it clear that additional money is not available at this time to pay an additional deputy fill time.

It is estimated that the current payroll would be $1,977 short by the end of the year.

Quaker Band Entertained After Wednesday Practice

Following a practice session at the American Legion home and on Reilly field, the re-organized Quaker City band was entertained at a fish fry by the members of the Legion post in the home last night.

Leo Hollinger, Chet Kridler, Charles Hall and Verne Kridler, Legionnaires who have been assisting with the organization and financing of the new band, spoke briefly.

The band, 32-pieces strong, had a musical rehearsal in the post home and then drilled at Reilly stadium in preparation for its part in the Memorial day program next Thursday.

OHIO ECONOMIC TIE-UP MAY BE HISTORY'S WORST

Ohio found itself in the grip of the worst economic tie-up in history today as a nationwide railroad strike snarled transportation, business and industry and inconvenienced the citizenry in every walk of life and even death.

The strike of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Railroad Trainmen, effective yesterday at 4 p. m., virtually halted commerce on the state's 2,845 miles of rails. Its effect was felt immediately.

Passengers Stranded
Hundreds of passengers were stranded in depots as the brotherhood crew brought their trains in yesterday afternoon and left them unmanned in stations and rail yards.

Shipments of mail, food, manufactured goods and raw materials were stranded with the trains, seriously curtailing nearly every type of business and commerce.

Indicative of the seriousness of the situation was a statement from President Robert E. Woodruff of the Erie railroad to the line's 24,000 employees.

"A prolonged strike would be more costly than a military defeat," he asserted.

The disruption of food traffic

Nation Reels Under Impact Of Walkout

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 24—Leaders of the railway trainmen and engineers unions, which have spread a crippling strike across the nation, resumed negotiations today in the government's desperate efforts to end the walkout.

Dr. John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, went into the meeting, on the fourth floor of the Statler hotel, as representatives of the carriers stood ready to receive him later two floors above.

At the White House, Labor Secretary Schwellenbach told reporters after a 90-minute cabinet meeting that "we discussed labor problems". He would not elaborate.

Asked whether Mr. Truman contemplated going to the people with a broadcast on the situation, Ross said he would not make any forecast as to the President's plans.

The nation reeled today from the first effects of the greatest strike in railroad history.

From coast to coast and from border to border rail transportation was at a virtual standstill.

Industries, large and small, were threatened with shutdowns or sharp curtailment in production. Fears were expressed a serious food situation would result within a week if the strike continued.

The tieup of service on 384 railroads ensued quickly after 4 p. m. local Standard time yesterday as 250,000 engineers and trainmen left their jobs in obedience to a strike call of last April 29.

Made idle by the walkout were most of the 1,200,000 members of the 18 other rail brotherhoods not included in the strike call.

Few Trains Operate
A few trains operated and were manned by supervisory employees. But the Association of American Railroads said the tieup was "pretty close to 100 per cent." The only class one carrier not affected by the walkout was the Illinois Central, taken over by the government last August.

A breakdown in eastern and mid-western coal producing areas will be ordered next week, the civilian production administration said, if the tieup continued or soft coal mining is stopped.

The shutdown of the country's soft coal mines, now under federal control and a strike of 400,000 miners still unsettled, appeared imminent. Steel mills were closing and others were threatened with an early closing. Thousands of other industries similar closings. Millions would be made idle.

From cities across the country came reports of cars of livestock, meat, fruit and other perishables being sidetracked as the trains halted.

Meat Industry Paralyzed
Not a single car carrying livestock left Chicago, the nation's livestock center. A Chicago packing company official said continuation of the strike would "just about paralyze the meat industry."

The government mobilized all non-rail transportation system in efforts to meet with the emergency and the office of defense transportation put controls over non-rail transportation to assure the movement of essential food and mail.

In the big cities, thousands of travelers and commuters were stranded. Hotels were jam-packed and cots were placed in dining rooms, ballrooms, halls and in lobbies to care for the overflow.

Reports from the nation's rail centers indicated the effectiveness

Damascus Academy Graduates of 1895 Still Living Today

Joseph G. Pim, farmer of R. D. 1, Beloit, father of Miss Margaret Pim, Salem school teacher, is a member of the class which graduated from Damascus academy at its eighth commencement exercises 51 years ago tonight.

In the class were six girls and two boys. All living today, they are scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific with four located west of the Mississippi river and four of them living east of it.

The others are: Laura Linton Wise, Pasadena, Calif.; Rosa Shreve Shreve, Whittier, Calif.; James H. Cameron, Damascus; Reba Jenkins Lewson, Ocean Grove, N. J.; Mary Pim Benedict, Delaware; Clara Marie Wells, Whittier, Calif.; and Anna Bailey Baldwin, Phoenix, Ariz.

Mrs. Lewson is a sister of Edward Jenkins, Winona nurseryman, and Mrs. Baldwin is a sister of Rev. Charles F. Bailey of Damascus. Although an invalid, Mrs. Baldwin assists in business operation of her 10-acre grapefruit farm.

Succeeded By Goshen High The academy, which was closed in the spring of 1909, was succeeded by Goshen township high school. While it offered no professional training.

Because Sheriff George Hayes is overdraining payroll funds allotted to him for the year, county commissioners today called him into conference in an effort to assure payment of county law enforcement officers' salaries next month.

County Auditor I. J. Vorntran notified the sheriff and commissioners that payroll checks will not be issued to sheriff's deputies after July 1 unless some arrangement is made to either cut costs to conform with current appropriations or appropriate more money to pay salaries.

One Too Many The difficulty has arisen as a result of the re-hiring of Deputy Cornelius Csepke, a discharged veteran, and the failure by the sheriff to remove anyone from his staff since Csepke's return.

Commissioners had sent a letter to Hayes requesting that he meet with them today to iron out the problem, but Hayes was not in Lisbon. His office was notified today that he must meet with the commissioners Monday.

The appropriations for 1946 law enforcement totaled $9,225 and Hayes already has used $4,465 of that sum in payroll checks for five months, Vorntran said. He indicated that if the rate continued, no payroll checks could be drawn during the final two months of the year.

The commissioners have made it clear that additional money is not available at this time to pay an additional deputy full time.

It is estimated that the current payroll would be $1,977 short by the end of the year.

Quaker Band Entertained After Wednesday Practice

Following a practice session at the American Legion home and on Reilly field, the re-organized Quaker City band was entertained at a fish fry by the members of the Legion post in the home last night.

Lee Hollinger, Chet Kridler, Charles Haldi and Verne Rich, Legionnaires who have been assisting with the organization and financing of the new band, spoke briefly.

The band, 32-pieces strong, had a musical rehearsal in the post home and then drilled at Reilly stadium in preparation for its part in the Memorial day program next Thursday.

Nation Reels Under Impact Of Walkout

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, May 24—Leaders of the railway trainmen and engineers unions, which have spread a crippling strike across the nation, resumed negotiations today in the government's desperate efforts to end the walkout.

Dr. John R. Steelman, presidential labor adviser, went into the meeting, on the fourth floor of the Statler hotel, as representatives of the carriers stood ready to receive him later two floors above.

At the White House, Labor Secretary Schwellenbach told reporters after a 90-minute cabinet meeting that "we discussed labor problems."

He would not elaborate. Asked whether Mr. Truman contemplated going to the people with a broadcast on the situation, Ross said he would not make any forecast as to the President's plans.

The nation reeled today from the first effects of the greatest strike in railroad history.

From coast to coast and from border to border rail transportation was at a virtual standstill.

Industries, large and small, were threatened with shutdowns or sharp curtailment in production. Fears were expressed a serious food situation would result within a week if the strike continued.

The tieup of service on 384 railroads ensued quickly after 4 p. m. local Standard time yesterday as 250,000 engineers and trainmen left their jobs in obedience to a strike call of last April 29.

Made idle by the walkout were most of the 1,200,000 members of the 18 other rail brotherhoods not included in the strike call.

Few Trains Operate A few trains operated and were manned by supervisory employees. But the Association of American Railroads said the tieup was "pretty close to 100 per cent."

Government May Boost Butter, Milk Prices

WASHINGTON, May 24—The price housewives pay for butter, milk and cheese may be boosted, a government official said today, to give farmers more money to buy feed for cows.

The only alternative, said this official who declined use of his name, is another increase in government subsidies to farmers to offset the higher costs of dairy feed.

In any event, he added, OPA, the agricultural department and the office of economic stabilization expect to make a decision within a few days.

Or the Senate Could Do Nothing

The proposition put up to the Senate by members Murray and Pepper, both opposed to new labor legislation at this time, was more thoughtful than critics were willing to admit. They proposed that nothing be done in the heat of controversy, lest the Senate act in haste and regret at leisure.

Senator Pepper now concedes, however, that some kind of action is inevitable. The reason for his judgment is obvious. For the Senate to do nothing under present circumstances would be an admission that its members were satisfied on the whole with the status quo. Too many of them are dissatisfied.

The question is no longer whether or not they will dare to tackle labor legislation against the opposition of those who like it the way it is. The new question is what they will do and how well they will perform their legislative task. Beyond that, the question is how well the task can be performed under difficulties as great as any ever faced by Congress.

There is no single change in labor legislation which could remove the threat of industrial chaos. There is no agreement on any group of changes. There is not even any general principle to guide the Senate, just as there was none to guide the House when it passed the Case bill.

In fact, Congress is not considering a problem in law-making so much as it is challenged by a problem in morale. What ultimately will emerge from Senate action and conference committee cannot be a legislative remedy, therefore, but only a demonstration of legislative concern. The remedy, if one can be found, must come later—and not necessarily in the form of new or amended laws.

It would come ideally from adoption of a policy of moderation by the leaders of the American labor movement. They would have compelling justification in history for doing everything within their means to relieve Congress of responsibility for curbing them in excessive use of their power. All of them know what happened when Congress curbed excessive use of power by capital and management.

They saw political authority set up as a substitute for private initiative. They saw countless restrictions imposed on individuals and groups of individuals in a kind of extremism that resembled revolution. They saw the loss of freedom and the handicap which a busy and usually bungling bureaucracy places on initiative.

If labor leaders persist in abusing the power they have gained, their lot will be no better. The same ambitious politicians who muscled into business affairs have their eye on the labor movement, too. Labor doesn't want them. Labor executives don't want them. Management doesn't want them. No one wants them, but that's where they'll be unless union labor demonstrates what capital and management didn't demonstrate in time—that they are capable of curbing their own power without waiting for political authority to do it for them.

The Last Resort Fizzles Out

Failure of large numbers of coal miners to report for work in government-seized mines, together with evidence that railroad workers stayed on the job after government seizure of railroads only when ordered to do so by union executives, is hastening the end of this last resort for maintaining the operation of stalled industries.

Its exercise under presidential authority for wartime is, in other words, subject to the same shortcomings as the authority itself. To make it effectual as a peacetime act, it would need to be given peacetime legality. The fact is that even in wartime, in the case of coal miners, it was far from absolute; many miners flouted it by refusing to report for work.

There is one test, significantly, which will remain to be made once the fact has been established that government seizure cannot insure the operation of an industry as far as its union employees are concerned. Except in the abortive case of government seizure of Montgomery Ward properties, where the issue was not clear, management's willingness to work for the government never has been in question. Montgomery Ward management stayed on the job; in fact, Sewell Avery had to be carried out of his office.

Sooner or later there may be an instance where management will decide to have a long holiday when conditions become intolerable. That would pose a really tough problem for the wielders of public power; whether the relatively few citizens who exercise management power could veto the government's will as successfully as the many citizens who furnish the labor to carry out management's plans and decisions.

June To Go

The closer the showdown on price control comes in the Senate, the more evident it becomes that economic circumstances are having more effect on the question than official decisions.

Two immediate circumstances and a third one that will be powerful in the future are the coal industry negotiations, railroad negotiations and the change in the national wage-increase pattern that will grow out of them.

It is likely that the illusion of price stability created by government subsidy will be discontinued by Senate action. It is certain that if negotiations in the coal and rail industries result in substantial increases in operating costs, these increases will have repercussions even greater than those in the steel and automobile industries. That is, there will be increasingly numerous changes in the future prices of materials and services.

Before the end of June, when price control authority must be renewed or go out of existence, it will be even more widely apparent than it is now that price stabilization during the war was made possible by two things: wage stabilization and the fact the government itself was the principal purchaser of goods. With wage stabilization gone and the government ceasing to be the principal outlet for commodities and materials, price control necessarily becomes a frenzied process of trying to keep abreast of the forces that are undermining it.

Strikes and resulting increases in cost of production and prices to consumers have hurt OPA more than it ever was hurt by its critics. The myth of a little inflation in the right places—where gratitude would mean votes—has been exploded. It is fading from memory, even as Chester Bowles, who tried hard but couldn't beat the circumstances beyond his control.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, May 25.

HARD work, unflinching application, with sound and constructive plans and programs, seem to be the prescribed way to stem the tide of threatened disruption or disintegrating visitation which menace the very foundations of the safety, security and prosperity of the fortunes, position and all round peace of mind.

Much study of underlying factors in the way of available assets and influences—possibly of elders or trusted friends or relatives—might avert this spading up. And this astute evaluation of undermining conditions may be counted upon, as the mind is under excellent stimuli for shrewd and intelligent observation and wise decisions.

Those whose birthday it is may be able to sidestep some menacing conditions, which seem to undermine existing circumstances with radical and long-range effect. Such danger could be averted and the affairs put on solid and enduring basis by grim and determined marshalling of the forces, faculties and resources.

Sound tactics and the cooperation of elders or relatives may bring worthwhile results or lasting rewards. Luckily the mentality is keyed to cope with baffling and defeatist circumstances, being attuned to shrewd, astute intelligence and with power to vanquish stubborn obstacles and opposition.

A child born on this day will have keen mind, sharp wits with the character to overcome obstacles and opposition by diligence and perseverance.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Dehydration Used to Ease Rheumatic Pain

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PAIN is among the outstanding symptoms of so-called "rheumatism" and anything which will relieve it offers a great boon to men and women who suffer from such conditions as inflammation of the joints or of the connecting tissue between and around muscles.

Two English doctors—William S. C. Copeland and Lewis G. C. Pugh—have recently devised a unique treatment which seems to help not only the above mentioned ailments but sciatica as well. Sciatica simply means pain along the sciatic nerve which starts in the lower part of the back and passes down the back of the leg.

In all of these conditions there is swelling due to a collection of fluid in the tissues. These doctors reasoned that this engorgement caused pressure on nerves, thus producing pain. To relieve it, they used what is called artificial dehydration, in which the normal amount of fluid in the body is reduced.

They found that with this treatment the patients were relieved of at least three-fourths of their pain and regained three-fourths of their normal activity. Two-thirds of the patients with fibrositis and rheumatism were benefited and more than one-third of those with sciatica.

They state that in fibrositis, particularly, the fatty tissues which contain the nerves and blood vessels become swollen or edematous. The collection of fluid causes pressure which, in turn produces the pain in both rheumatism and fibrositis.

To get rid of this swelling they used the process of dehydration, that is, cutting down on the amount of fluids which are taken into the body and increasing the elimination of fluids. In carrying out the treatment no food is permitted during the first 24 hours, and fluids are withheld for 36 hours.

The patients are given sodium sulfate every hour for six hours to speed up the elimination of fluids.

After this treatment is carried out, the patient is given an injection of salt solution into a vein, and immediately thereafter the patient is allowed to drink four ounces of tea. No other fluid is given for four hours. The patient is then encouraged to get up out of bed.

This treatment is not used in a patient who has fever due to a rheumatic infection.

In sciatica it is thought that the treatment brings relief in a different way in that the injection of the salt solution tends to shrink the nerve tissues and lower the pressure of the fluid in the spine.

Patients who have had sciatica for a long period of time seem to respond least satisfactorily to this method of treatment.

In view of the good results obtained with this treatment it would appear to be worth trying, under a physician's supervision.

Hometown Doctors to treat Ohio's Disabled Veterans

COLUMBUS, May 24.—Ohio veterans with service-connected disabilities will be eligible for treatment by their hometown physicians beginning July 1 under a plan announced today by Dr. Neville H. McNeerney, Veterans Administration medical director in Columbus.

The veteran may select the doctor he prefers from a list authorized by the Ohio State Medical association, which will pool members who wish to participate.

The physician will submit his bill to VA, which will pay on a predetermined schedule. Such a plan, Dr. McNeerney said, is merely supplementary to the present out-patient service for such disabilities.

They saw the loss of freedom and the handicap which a busy and usually bungling bureaucracy places on initiative.

If labor leaders persist in abusing the power they have gained, their lot will be no better. The same ambitious politicians who muscled into business affairs have their eye on the labor movement, too. Labor doesn't want them. Labor executives don't want them. Management doesn't want them. No one wants them, but that's where they'll be unless union labor demonstrates what capital and management didn't demonstrate in time—that they are capable of curbing their own power without waiting for political authority to do it for them.

The Last Resort Fizzles Out

Failure of large numbers of coal miners to report for work in government-seized mines, together with evidence that railroad workers stayed on the job after government seizure of railroads only when ordered to do so by union executives, is hastening the end of this last resort for maintaining the operation of stalled industries.

Its exercise under presidential authority for wartime is, in other words, subject to the same shortcomings as the authority itself. To make it effectual as a peacetime act, it would need to be given peacetime legality. The fact is that even in wartime, in the case of coal miners, it was far from absolute; many miners flouted it by refusing to report for work.

There is one test, significantly, which will remain to be made once the fact has been established that government seizure cannot insure the operation of an industry as far as its union employees are concerned. Except in the abortive case of government seizure of Montgomery Ward properties, where the issue was not clear, management's willingness to work for the government never has been in question. Montgomery Ward management stayed on the job; in fact, Sewell Avery had to be carried out of his office.

Sooner or later there may be an instance where management will decide to have a long holiday when conditions become intolerable. That would pose a really tough problem for the wielders of public power; whether the relatively few citizens who exercise management power could veto the government's will as successfully as the many citizens who furnish the labor to carry out management's plans and decisions.

June To Go

The closer the showdown on price control comes in the Senate, the more evident it becomes that economic circumstances are having more effect on the question than official decisions.

Two immediate circumstances and a third one that will be powerful in the future are the coal industry negotiations, railroad negotiations and the change in the national wage-increase pattern that will grow out of them.

It is likely that the illusion of price stability created by government subsidy will be discontinued by Senate action. It is certain that if negotiations in the coal and rail industries result in substantial increases in operating costs, these increases will have repercussions even greater than those in the steel and automobile industries. That is, there will be increasingly numerous changes in the future prices of materials and services.

Before the end of June, when price control authority must be renewed or go out of existence, it will be even more widely apparent than it is now that price stabilization during the war was made possible by two things: wage stabilization and the fact the government itself was the principal purchaser of goods. With wage stabilization gone and the government ceasing to be the principal outlet for commodities and materials, price control necessarily becomes a frenzied process of trying to keep abreast of the forces that are undermining it.

Strikes and resulting increases in cost of production and prices to consumers have hurt OPA more than it ever was hurt by its critics. The myth of a little inflation in the right places—where gratitude would mean votes—has been exploded. It is fading from memory, even as Chester Bowles, who tried hard but couldn't beat the circumstances beyond his control.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, May 25

HARD work, unflinching application, with sound and constructive plans and programs, seem to be the prescribed way to stem the tide of threatened disruption or disintegrating visitation which menace the very foundations of the safety, security and prosperity of the fortunes, position and all round peace of mind.

Much study of underlying factors in the way of available assets and influences—possibly of elders or trusted friends or relatives—might avert this apalling up. And this astute evaluation of undermining conditions may be counted upon, as the mind is under excellent stimuli for shrewd and intelligent observation and wise decisions.

Those whose birthday it is may be able to sidestep some menacing conditions, which seem to undermine existing circumstances with radical and long-range effect. Such danger could be averted and the affairs put on solid and enduring basis by grim and determined marshalling of the forces, faculties and resources.

Sound tactics and the cooperation of elders or relatives may bring worthwhile results or lasting rewards. Luckily the mentality a key to cope with baffling and defeatist circumstances, being attuned to shrewd, astute intelligence and with power to vanquish stubborn obstacles and opposition.

A child born on this day will have been mind, sharp wits with the character to overcome obstacles and opposition by diligence and perseverance.

GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Dehydration Used to Ease Rheumatic Pain

BY HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PAIN is among the outstanding symptoms of so-called "rheumatism" and anything which will relieve it offers a great boon to men and women who suffer from such conditions as inflammation of the joints or of the connecting tissue between and around muscles.

Two English doctors—William S. C. Copeland and Lewis G. C. Pugh—have recently devised a unique treatment which seems to help not only the above mentioned ailments but sciatica as well. Sciatica simply means pain along the sciatic nerve which starts in the lower part of the back and passes down the back of the leg.

In all of these conditions there is swelling due to a collection of fluid in the tissues. These doctors reasoned that this engorgement caused pressure on nerves, thus producing pain. To relieve it, they used what is called artificial dehydration, in which the normal amount of fluid in the body is reduced.

They found that with this treatment the patients were relieved of at least three-fourths of their pain and regained three-fourths of their normal activity. Two-thirds of the patients with fibrositis and rheumatism were benefited and more than one-third of those with sciatica.

They state that in fibrositis, particularly, the fatty tissues which contain the nerves and blood vessels become swollen or edematous. The collection of fluid causes pressure which, in turn produces the pain in both rheumatism and fibrositis.

Dehydration Process
To get rid of this swelling they used the process of dehydration, that is, cutting down on the amount of fluids which are taken into the body and increasing the elimination of fluids. In carrying out the treatment no food is permitted during the first 24 hours, and fluids are withheld for 36 hours.

The patients are given sodium sulfate every hour for six hours to speed up the elimination of fluids.

After this treatment is carried out, the patient is given an injection of salt solution into a vein, and immediately thereafter the patient is allowed to drink four ounces of tea. No other fluid is given for four hours. The patient is then encouraged to get up out of bed.

This treatment is not used in a patient who has fever due to a rheumatic infection.

In sciatica it is thought that the treatment brings relief in a different way in that the injection of the salt solution tends to shrink the nerve tissues and lower the pressure of the fluid in the spine.

Patients who have had sciatica for a long period of time seem to respond least satisfactorily to this method of treatment.

In view of the good results obtained with this treatment it would appear to be worth trying, under a physician's supervision.

Hometown Doctors to treat Ohio's Disabled Veterans

COLUMBUS, May 24—Ohio veterans with service-connected disabilities will be eligible for treatment by their hometown physicians beginning July 1 under a plan announced today by Dr. Neville H. McMerney, Veterans Administration medical director in Columbus.

The veteran may select the doctor he prefers from a list authorized by the Ohio State Medical association, which will poll members who wish to participate.

The physician will submit his bill to VA, which will pay on a predetermined schedule.

Such a plan, Dr. McMerney said, is merely supplementary to the present out-patient service for such disabilities.

Extend Wheat Bonus For Farmers Beyond May 25

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Agriculture department announced today farmers in areas where country grain elevators are filled would be permitted additional time beyond May 25 to collect the 30-cent bushel bonus being offered for wheat for export.

The bonus offer will expire May 25 but in areas where local elevators are blocked farmers will be permitted to sign contracts through that date for sale of their grain to the government, with delivery deferred until elevators are open.

Local elevators are acting as buying agencies for the government. No specific terminal date for the time extension was announced by the department.

The department said there will be no other extension of the bonus other than that announced today.

Extend Wheat Bonus For Farmers Beyond May 25

WASHINGTON, May 23.—The Agriculture department announced today farmers in areas where country grain elevators are filled would be permitted additional time beyond May 25 to collect the 30-cent bushel bonus being offered for wheat for export.

The bonus offer will expire May 25 but in areas where local elevators are blocked farmers will be permitted to sign contracts through that date for sale of their grain to the government, with delivery deferred until elevators are open.

Local elevators are acting as buying agencies for the government. No specific terminal date for the time extension was announced by the department.

Cite Higher Costs For State Blind, Deaf School

COLUMBUS, May 24.—Cost of Ohio's proposed new schools for the deaf and blind will total approximately $1,500,000 more than plans specified four years ago, architects estimate.

The architects notified the state controlling board yesterday their estimate came to $9,948,142 against the amount appropriated by the last general assembly.

Of the total, $400,000 comprise architects' fees.

State Welfare Director Frazier Reams requested and the board took under advisement an emergency appropriation of $50,000 for structural changes at Cambridge state hospital, recently acquired from the War department.

Reams estimates cost of operating the hospital at about $1,500,000 annually. He also requested the board make an emergency appropriation of $46,855 to the state auditor for an audit of $20,600,000 trust funds of old age pensioners held by the state.

Trucks Given Open Routes In Emergency

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 24—The Ohio Public Utilities commission wired its investigators throughout the state today not to interfere in any way with the movement of food and livestock feed by truck regardless of the hauler's established route.

Harold L. Mason, chairman, said the order probably would be interpreted to follow the line of priority set up by the Interstate Commerce commission and Office of Defense Transportation for 13 different classifications of goods.

The ICC-ODT order directed to district bureaus of motor carriers granted emergency authority to move freight anywhere by truck.

The priorities follow:

1. Food and livestock feed except hay and straw
2. Food and feed production material
3. Livestock and poultry
4. Fuels, both heating and motor and lubricating oils
5. U. S. mail
6. Medical supplies
7. Water purification supplies such as chlorine, alum and soda ash
8. Sanitary chemical supplies, insecticides and fungicides
9. Repair equipment and parts for transportation
10. Repair equipment and parts for public utilities
11. Printing paper including newsprint
12. Boxes and containers for any of the above

Busses Are Jammed
Stranded travelers turned to bus lines for transportation. Charles F. Koehler, manager of the Greyhound bus depot at Cincinnati, reported a 30 per cent increase in fares up to last midnight.

Some trains, manned by volunteer crews and even officials of some companies, continued to run, but this was expected to have little if any effect on the general picture.

The Erie railroad planned to continue regular passenger service, but abandon all branch traffic. The Erie is maintaining freight hauls, but said if the strike hit too severely, cargo would be limited to food and medicine.

Of 37 Pennsylvania passenger trains normally due through Columbus today, only three are expected to make the trip, said Division Passenger Agent H. B. Burchinal.

Mail Truck Routes Set Up
At Cleveland, Postmaster Guy R. that of emergency nature, and L. J.

Lucas urged restriction of mail to Garvin, superintendent of the Ninth division of railway mail service, set up mail truck routes to Erie, Pa., Youngstown and Sandusky with surplus vehicles borrowed from the postoffice.

At least one train leaving Cleveland late last night appeared certain of through passage. It was a Pennsylvania hospital train carrying 318 patients from the Erie General hospital to Wakeman General hospital at the army's Camp Atterbury, Ind.

Three Baltimore and Ohio trains and one Norfolk and Western departed Cincinnati last night with company officials at the controls.

A trio of the Pennsylvania's crack New York-bound trains cleared Columbus, too. They were: The American, the Spirit of St. Louis and the Jefferson, all traveling nearly two hours late.

The impact of the strike was not expected to hit the state's industries until next week. Mass industrial layoffs exceeding 100,000 were predicted for the Cleveland area if the tieup continues past Sunday.

A continued stoppage would paralyze Akron, too. About 90 per cent of the raw materials that keep rubber factories humming are shipped in by rail, with 60 per cent of the manufactured goods also dependent on railroads.

Wife Charges Neglect, Asks Alimony of Pastor

COLUMBUS, May 24—Dr. James Thomas, pastor of the fashionable downtown Broad street Methodist church, today was sued for alimony in domestic relations court by his wife, Mrs. Ernestine Day Thomas, of Denver, Colo.

Mrs. Thomas asserted in her petition the pastor "has grossly neglected his duty to maintain and provide her with the necessary comforts to which she is entitled" and that "there is a separation between the two in consequence of ill treatment on the part of the defendant."

Dr. Thomas has announced he is leaving his pastorate June 1.

U. S. Greek-Americans Plan To Aid Homeland

CINCINNATI, May 24—An appeal to every Greek-American "to send a cow or horse to relatives in Greece" was made here today by George R. Skouras of New York, vice president of the Greek War Relief association.

Spokesmen for a group of local Greek-Americans reported they already had shipped 20 head of livestock to their war-torn homeland.

Declaring that the Germans left Greece "utterly barren and people starving," Skouras said the association had arranged with the U. S. Department of Agriculture to buy cows and mares at $180 per cow and $89 per mare.

Trucks Given Open Routes In Emergency

(By Associated Press)
COLUMBUS, May 24—The Ohio Public Utilities commission wired its investigators throughout the state today not to interfere in any way with the movement of food and livestock feed by truck regardless of the hauler's established route.

Harold L. Mason, chairman, said the order probably would be interpreted to follow the line of priority set up by the Interstate Commerce commission and Office of Defense Transportation for 13 different classifications of goods.

The ICC-ODT order directed to district bureaus of motor carriers granted emergency authority to move freight anywhere by truck.

- The priorities follow:
1. Food and livestock feed except hay and straw
 2. Food and feed production material
 3. Livestock and poultry
 4. Fuels, both heating and motor and lubricating oils
 5. U. S. mail
 6. Medical supplies
 7. Water purification supplies such as chlorine, alum and soda ash
 8. Sanitary chemical supplies, insecticides and fungicides
 9. Repair equipment and parts for transportation
 10. Repair equipment and parts for public utilities
 11. Printing paper including newsprint
 13. Boxes and containers for any of the above

Busses Are Jammed
Stranded travelers turned to bus lines for transportation. Charles F. Koehler, manager of the Greyhound bus depot at Cincinnati, reported a 30 per cent increase in fares up to last midnight.

Some trains, manned by volunteer crews and even officials of some companies, continued to run, but this was expected to have little if any effect on the general picture.

The Erie railroad planned to continue regular passenger service, but abandon all branch traffic. The Erie is maintaining freight hauls, but said if the strike hit too severely, cargo would be limited to food and medicine.

Of 37 Pennsylvania passenger trains normally due through Columbus today, only three are expected to make the trip, said Division Passenger Agent H. B. Burchinal.

Columbiana Family Hurt In Michigan

COLUMBIANA, May 24.—Mrs. Dora Clay, wife of Floyd Clay of S. Main st., is in a Detroit hospital with a double fracture of one leg, and her mother, Mrs. Millie Wellendorf, is at her home in East Palestine with a broken leg as the result of a head-on crash of automobiles near Monroe, Mich., several days ago, in which other members of the Clay family also suffered injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Clay, their daughter, Doris, and Mrs. Wellendorf were accompanying Kenneth back to his army camp at the conclusion of a furlough at home here.

Kenneth was driving the car and was passing a truck when the accident happened. Members of the Clay family say their car was traveling with the cab of the truck even with the same direction, when a car coming from the opposite direction suddenly shot around in front of the truck and crashed into them.

Floyd Clay suffered a broken nose, Kenneth's hands were badly burned and Doris sustained minor injuries.

Plan Sunday Wedding

Miss Eleanor Lehman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Lehman of S. Main st., who has been employed in a secretarial capacity at the headquarters of the American Lutheran church in Columbus, will be married Sunday afternoon to Rev. Wilfred Bockelman of Wooster, pastor of the Canaan-Salem Lutheran parish.

The ceremony will be performed at 4 p. m. in Jerusalem Lutheran church here, by Rev. Dr. H. F. Schuh and Rev. Marcus Rieke, both of Columbus, and Rev. Paul T. Rueckwald of the local church.

These reports came from Chicago, New York, Washington, San Francisco, St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Minneapolis, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit, Philadelphia, Mobile, Richmond, Va., Dallas, Tex., and other cities.

From California came word from the state Chamber of Commerce that farming will suffer "immediate losses running into the millions" and world food supplies would be hard hit because the huge fruit and vegetable crops are largely perishable.

COLUMBUS, May 24.—Stranded by the railroad strike were 3,700 baby chicks in Union station. Asked what would happen to them, a baggage handler said: "They'll die. They're dying now."

BATTLE STRAW FIRE FOR THREE HOURS

Firemen were called last night to the Salem China Co. plant, S. Broadway, to extinguish a fire which had broken out among 400 bales of straw piled outside the plant.

Although the straw was badly burned, no damage resulted to the plant. The department was summoned at 4:30 p. m. and battled the blaze until after 7.

training, academy courses were taught.

Started as a Friends boarding school in Damascus in 1857 by Jacob and Israel Hole, the academy was sold to Damascus Quarterly meeting of Friends in 1860. The first teachers after it was sold were Jessie Lloyd and William Pinkham.

Adding the east wing to the building in 1885, the school was changed to the Damascus academy and chartered under state laws.

The first annual commencement was held in 1887 and the last teachers were Evan Heston and Louise Urton Ellett.

When Goschen Township High school was built, the former academy building was remodeled into a home.

7 In Cub Pack Advance To Full Rank of Scout

Robert Wentz, cubmaster of Cub Pack No. 3, was in charge of the ceremonies when seven members were graduated into scouting at a meeting last night in the Presbyterian church.

Floyd McQuilkin, senior scoutmaster, welcomed the boys into the organization, and Don Gay of Lisbon, county scout executive, showed pictures of summer cubbing activities and other events at the scout reservation, Lisbon.

The boys graduating are: Johnny Schmid, Arthur Vaughan, Don Wirtz, Terry Moore, Dick Perkins, Don Krider and Everett Crawford.

Refreshments were served by the boys of den No. 5.

Veterans to Hold Poppy Day Sales On Saturday

Charles S. Carey post No. 46, American Legion, the Legion auxiliary, and Allen K. Reynolds post No. 892, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and auxiliary, have completed plans for tomorrow's observance of the annual Poppy day.

Wearing of the poppy is the indi-visual act of tribute to the dead of the two world wars.

The Legion's poppies have been sent here from the Soldiers and Sailors home at Sandusky where they were fashioned by disabled veterans, while those to be distributed by the V. F. W. were made at the organization's national home in Eaton Rapids, Mich.

Money obtained by the Legion through the sale of the paper flowers will be used in welfare work.

Funds from the V. F. W. sale are used to support a national rehabilitation service which indirectly benefits local veterans as well as disabled and needy ones throughout the nation.

Health League Officials Attend Columbus Meeting

LISBON, May 24.—Four representatives of the Columbiana County Public Health league attended the annual meeting of the Ohio health league in Columbus yesterday.

Arch Dalton, secretary; E. S. Kerr of Salem and Atty George Lafferty of Lisbon, both members of the board of directors of the state group, and Miss Lillian Schroeder, educational secretary of the county league, made up the delegation.

It was decided to change the name of the state group to Ohio Tuberculosis and Health association.

Proposed legislation for relief in tuberculosis treatment costs to county governments was discussed and approved.

HOBBY SHOW PLANS PROMOTED BY CLUB

Further plans were made for a hobby show to be held at 18-20 at a meeting of Salem Club and Club members in the Memorial building.

The event will feature prize-winning exhibits as well as sales displays of stamps and coins, and other collectibles.

The club's executive committee, President W. R. Braken, Vice President W. R. Braken, Secretary Lewis Braken and Treasurer J. O. Hagedorn, will make arrangements while R. Max and Vincent Judge are co-chairmen of a committee in charge of sales and exhibitors.

Lee Slater is director of arrangements and Nathan Harris is publicity director.

All dealers or collectors interested in entering a display are asked to contact the club as soon as possible in order to reserve exhibit space.

N. GEORGETOWN

Ronald Reichenbach has received his discharge from the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Galbreath, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Galbreath and son, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Buckman, were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Galbreath. The dinner honored birthdays of Mrs. Lee Galbreath and Mrs. Jesse Galbreath.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Matti of Oklahoma are visiting his brother, Ed Matti.

Luther League Meets

The Luther League held its monthly business and social meeting Tuesday at the home of Jane Berger.

The meeting was in charge of Ed Saffel. Motion pictures on "Science" were shown.

The next meeting will be June 18 at the home of Lois Berger.

The Brethren and Lutheran churches will hold union memorial service at the Lutheran church at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Dora Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schneider, underwent an operation at the Salem Central Clinic Friday.

Big Joke—They Painted the Wrong House

They're laughing now, but when they count up the cost they'll be weeping. Harold, left, and Gene Killbridge of Brighton, Mass., were merrily splashing away with their brushes on the house they thought they were being paid to paint. Then a kindly policeman hinted they were working on the wrong house. Harold and Gene gaped, then they sat down and laughed and laughed. A neighbor, Mrs. Edna McGeehan, joined them.

Fertilizer User

Germany, prior to the war, was estimated to use one-fourth of the world's chemical plant fertilizers in an area slightly larger than the combined areas of Indiana, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

LEETONIA

The Happy-Go-Lucky 4-H club held their organization meeting at St. Paul's Lutheran church Tuesday evening with 35 in attendance.

Mrs. T. P. Laughner and Mrs. W. E. Gilson are club advisors.

The following officers were elected: President, Marjorie Gilson; vice president, Jean Cushing; secretary-treasurer, Martha McCormick; pianist, Joan Laughner; reporter, Phyllis Webber.

Government Maps Plans For 1,500,000 New Maps

Bare feet on the face of the earth are the rule in the Geological Survey section of the Department of Interior, where these girls are adding place names and other data to a map. Shoes would do the maps no good.

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON—With 53 per cent of the United States still unmaped, according to the Department of Interior, there is a desperate shortage of topographical maps being reported by engineering firms, oil companies, flood control experts and other users.

To remedy this shortage, Interior officials plan to speed up the mapping of these areas in the next few weeks. It is hoped that methods speeded during the war will produce 1,500,000 new maps of America within the next year.

Topographic maps, Interior officials claim, are greatly needed to assist the makers of automobile highway maps, for building fields, improving rivers and harbors, for the prosecution of power and irrigation enterprises, for forest administration and scores of other purposes.

Ten states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii may be completely mapped in the time that official maps of these states and territories show the actual shape and elevation of the land surface, streams and drainage, the location and extent of cities and towns, roads, dams, forests, boundary lines and other culture, according to the Department of Interior.

Some Maps By G. W.

The states adequately mapped are said to be the Connecticut, Delaware, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Rhode Island, West Virginia and Ohio.

But some of the mapping done by George Washington is all that exists for many areas of Virginia and there are some areas in that state that have never been mapped at all. In general, the regions of the country inadequately mapped are in the central and western states.

With the demand for maps growing at the present rate, Interior officials claim even their speeded up program won't satisfy the need for them. It is hoped that Congress will provide more money for this purpose.

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

HOBBY SHOW PLANS PROMOTED BY CLUB

Further plans were made for a three-day hobby show to be held at 18-20 at a meeting of Salem Club and Coin club members in the Memorial building.

The event will feature prize-winning exhibits, as well as sales displays of antiques and general curios. The club's executives, President David Braken, Vice President W. R. Braken, Secretary Lewis Braken and Treasurer J. O. Hagedorn, will handle arrangements while R. Max and Vincent Judge are co-chairmen of a committee in charge of dealers and exhibitors.

Lee Shaler is director of arrangements and Nathan Harris is publicity director.

All dealers or collectors interested in entering a display are asked to contact the club as soon as possible in order to reserve exhibit space.

N. GEORGETOWN

Ronald Reichenbach has received discharge from the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Galbreath, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Galbreath and son, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Buckman were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Galbreath. The dinner honored birthdays of Mrs. Lee Galbreath and Mrs. Jesse Galbreath.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Matti of Oklahoma are visiting his brother, Ed Matti.

Luther League Meets

The Luther league held its monthly business and social meeting Tuesday at the home of Jane Berger.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. Saffel. Motion pictures on "Service" were shown.

The next meeting will be June 18 at the home of Lois Berger.

The Brethren and Lutheran churches will hold union memorial service at the Lutheran church at 11 a.m. Sunday.

John Schneider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Schneider, underwent an operation at the Salem Central Clinic Friday.

Big Joke—They Painted the Wrong House

They're laughing now, but when they count up the cost they'll be weeping. Harold, left, and Gene Killbridge of Brighton, Mass., were merrily splashing away with their brushes on the house they thought they were being paid to paint. Then a kindly policeman hinted they were working on the wrong house. Harold and Gene gaped, then they sat down and laughed and laughed. A neighbor, Mrs. Edna McGee, joined them.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

BERLIN—You don't belong and you feel it.

It is the most uncomfortable feeling in the world.

To live in a house where you aren't wanted.

To shelter under a roof whose owners wish you away.

They won't complain with their mouths. They do it with their eyes.

Their down-turned lips. They are afraid to protest.

You have no gun in your hand. You don't need a gun.

The guns are in the background. You do it with a paper.

The army gives the paper. It says the home is needed by the Americans. Or the British. Or the Russians. Or the French. The paper says to the German family:

"You must leave your home in 48 hours. We will move you into another billet."

This billet will be small and crowded. And it will be strange. The German family doesn't want to leave. So humbly they ask if they can stay. They will live in the attic and the basement and the kitchen and clean and keep the house for you.

You know such arrangements can't really work well. But tears are trembling in the hausfrau's eyes. You don't feel like a conqueror is supposed to feel. You just feel like a fool. So you and the other Americans who are moving in say:

"Okay, you can stay."

And for a few days you feel like you're really a nice guy, a kind of grown up Boy Scout who still remembers to do an occasional good deed.

The brick house is big and square and new with white and purple lilac bushes in the backyard, whose spring fragrance makes you homesick for America. You like the house until some day you notice it wasn't built for guests.

The living room is surprisingly small and there is a heavy iron fence along the side walk and a fence around the back yard.

The family is so grateful to you at first.

Everything is smiles all day long, and you never noticed a place so clean. Before the speck of dust falls, the hausfrau is there to gather it up.

In the afternoon the husband is in the garden, wearing neat plus four knickers as he waters the lettuce and cabbage he hopes will give them some extra calories and vitamins through the summer.

He waves cheerfully as you watch from your window. He used to own two factories before the war, and he probably put the equivalent of $30,000 into this house.

But there is so much work for the hausfrau now, even with extra help. And one day somebody forgets to put a burning cigar on the bedside table, and the hausfrau points out the burned spot with a silent sad look.

Soon she is sad all the time. She hates to hear her front door opened and closed so often by strangers, and strange voices ringing through the rooms. She and her husband become tired of living in cramped quarters and moving like ghosts in their own house.

The smiles begin to cease. Now when the hausfrau brings your laundry, she puts it down with a weariness she accents for your eyes, a gesture that says, "I am being compelled to do too much."

You feel uneasy. You try to bribe your own conscience by giving her two chocolate bars, and she pokes your hand in a way that expresses martyrdom instead of gratitude. If you mention the situation to your friends, they say, "Throw them out. You should have done that in the first place."

But you know them now, and you can't.

The lilac bushes lose their smell, and the hours grow strange and cold. Each room cries to you, "you don't belong here, you American. Why don't you get out?" You spend more evenings in the Allied clubs, and when you finally lie down at night you stay awake in the darkness and wish you were back home in a house where you were wanted.

Nazi Confesses Killing American In Massacre

DACHAU, Germany, May 24. — George Fleps, identified as the SS private who fired the first shots in the Malmédy massacre of American prisoners of war, said in a statement today that he raised his pistol after "we received orders from up ahead to bump off the Americans."

In the document read to the seven-man court trying 74 former SS men and officers for wanton murder of unarmed American prisoners and Belgian civilians, Fleps asserted:

"I fired one shot at one of the Americans and saw him fall over. As far as I know, I fired the first shot into the field."

Then, Fleps said, machineguns in the surrounding tanks of the column started spraying the Americans who had been herded into the field at the Malmédy crossroads during the early stages of the battle of the Ardennes bulge.

College Plans Department Of Preventive Medicine

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 24. — A preventive medicine department which will seek especially ways of checking the onset of such respiratory diseases as the common cold, influenza and pneumonia was planned today by Western Reserve university.

Forming the new department are five doctors making up the entire acute respiratory disease commission of the U. S. army epidemiological board, including Drs. John H. Dingle, director, Charles H. Ram-mel Kamp, Jr., Alto E. Feller and George F. Badger, all of Fort Bragg, N. C., and Richard G. Hodges of Babies Hospital, New York.

Their appointment to the staffs of Western Reserve's School of Medicine and University hospitals was announced by President Winfred G. Leutner of the university. Dr. Joseph T. Wearn, dean of the medical school, and Dr. Robert H.

Bishop, Jr., director of the hospitals.

In addition to studying and promoting prevention of common respiratory diseases, the department also will emphasize prevention and cure of infant diseases. The department's work will relate to the population of northern Ohio.

Hard To Please

William Pitt, the English statesman, demanded that his meals be placed on the table instantly, the moment he desired to eat, but there was no certainty as to what hour of the day or night he would call for food. Therefore, chickens were kept boiling and roasting at every hour.

Traveling Bottle

A bottle set adrift on the eastern coast off the United States in April, 1931, was recovered near Hammerfest, Norway, having gone 4550 miles in 683 days.

Toad frogs are worth as much as $25 per year in controlling pests, according to estimates.

Boyle's COLUMN

By HAL BOYLE

BERLIN—You don't belong and you feel it.

It is the most uncomfortable feeling in the world.

To live in a house where you aren't wanted.

To shelter under a roof whose owners wish you away.

They won't complain with the mouth. They do it with the eyes, the downturned lips. They are afraid to protest aloud. You have no gun in your hand. You don't need a gun.

The guns are in the background. You do it with a paper.

The army gives the paper. It says the home is needed by the Americans. Or the British. Or the Russians. Or the French. The paper says to the German family.

"You must leave your home in 48 hours. We will move you into another billet."

This billet will be small and crowded. And it will be strange. The German family doesn't want to leave. So humbly they ask if they can stay. They will live in the attic and the basement and the kitchen and clean and keep the house for you.

You know such arrangements can't really work well. But tears are trembling in the hausfrau's eyes. You don't feel like a conqueror. You are supposed to feel like a conqueror.

So you and the other Americans who are moving in say: "Okay, you can stay."

And for a few days you feel like you're really a nice guy, a kind of grown up Boy Scout who still remembers to do an occasional good deed.

The brick house is big and square and new with white and purple blue bushes in the backyard, whose spring fragrance makes you homesick for America. You like the house until some day you notice it wasn't built for guests.

The living room is surprisingly small and there is a heavy iron fence along the side walk and a fence around the back yard.

The family is so grateful to you at first.

Everything is smiles all day long, and you never noticed a place so clean. Before the speck of dust falls, the hausfrau is there to gather it up.

In the afternoon the husband is in the garden, wearing neat plus four knickers as he waters the lettuce and cabbage he hopes will give them some extra calories and vitamins through the summer.

He waves cheerfully as you watch from your window. He used to own two factories before the war, and he probably put the equivalent of $30,000 into this house.

But there is so much work for the hausfrau now, even with extra help. And one day somebody forgets he put a burning cigar on the bedside table, and the hausfrau points out the burned spot with a silent sad look.

Soon she is sad all the time. She hates to hear her front door opened and closed so often by strangers, and strange voices ringing through the rooms. She and her husband become tired of living in cramped quarters and moving like ghosts in their own house.

The smiles begin to cease. Now when the hausfrau brings your laundry, she put it down with a weariness she accents for your eyes, a gesture that says, "I am being compelled to do too much."

You feel uneasy. You try to bribe your own conscience by giving her two chocolate bars, and she paces your hand in a way that expresses martyrdom instead of gratitude. If you mention the situation to your friends, they say, "Throw them out. You should have done that in the first place."

But you know them now, and you can't.

The lilac bushes lose their smell, and the hours grow strange and cold. Each room cries to you, "you don't belong here, you American. Why don't you get out?" You spend more evenings in the Allied clubs, and when you finally lie down at night you stay awake in the darkness and wish you were back home in a house where you were wanted.

Nazi Confesses Killing American In Massacre

DACHAU, Germany, May 24. — George Fleps, identified as the SS private who fired the first shots in the Malmédy massacre of American prisoners of war, said in a statement today that he raised his pistol after "we received orders from up ahead to bump off the Americans."

In the document read to the seven-man court trying 74 former SS men and officers for wanton murder of unarmed American prisoners and Belgian civilians, Fleps asserted: "I fired one shot at one of the Americans and saw him fall over. As far as I know, I fired the first shot into the field."

Then, Fleps said, machineguns in the surrounding tanks of the column started spraying the Americans who had been herded into the field at the Malmédy crossroads during the early stages of the battle of the Ardennes bulge.

College Plans Department Of Preventive Medicine

(By Associated Press) CLEVELAND, May 24 — A preventive medicine department which will seek especially ways of checking the onset of such respiratory diseases as the common cold, influenza and pneumonia was planned today by Western Reserve university.

Forming the new department are five doctors making up the entire acute respiratory disease commission of the U. S. army epidemiological board, including Drs. John H. Dingle, director, Charles H. Ram-mel Kamp, Jr., Alto E. Feller and George F. Badger, all of Fort Bragg, N. C., and Richard G. Hodges of Babies hospital, New York.

Their appointment to the staffs of Western Reserve's School of Medicine and University hospitals was announced by President Winfred G. Leutner of the university, Dr. Joseph T. Wearn, dean of the medical school, and Dr. Robert H.

Bishop, Jr., director of the hospital. In addition to studying and promoting prevention of common respiratory diseases, the department also will emphasize prevention and cure of infant diseases. The department's work will relate to the population of northern Ohio.

U. S. Has Deadlier Weapon Than Atom Bomb, House Told

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, May 24 — Rep. Albert Thomas (D-Tex.) told the house today the United States navy had developed a weapon "for more deadly than the atomic bomb."

His statement came during debate on the 1947 navy appropriation bill.

Thomas did not say what the weapon was nor did he elaborate to reporters other than to indicate it was a development of the bureau of Medicine and Surgery.

The house is busy arguing about the size of the postwar navy. Members chose sides over these issues:

1. A naval committee recommendation that the fleet contain 1,079 ships—319 in active operation, 73 in a ready reserve, and 687 in an inactive reserve. The house last year unanimously passed a bill favoring such a navy, and the Navy department asked the budget bureau for $6,375,000,000 to finance it. The budget bureau reduced the figure to $4,224,000,000.

2. An appropriations committee recommendation that the fleet contain 955 ships—291 active, 42 reserve, and 622 inactive. The committee added $374,260,000 in cash to the budget bureau's figure but topped approximately $422,600,000 from the navy's contractual authority.

West Point, Annapolis Exams Planned July 24

Congressman Earl R. Lewis announced today that the competitive examination, which he has asked the U. S. Civil Service commission to hold for the selection of boys to be appointed to the Naval and Military academies, has been set for Wednesday, July 24. The exam will be held at Steubenville.

All boys who are residents of the 18th Ohio Congressional district (Carroll, Columbiana, Jefferson, Harrison, and Belmont counties) who are within the age limits, are eligible.

Age requirements are 17 to 21 years on April 1 for Annapolis; 18 to 22 years on date of entrance for West Point; extended two years at both schools for boys who have served honorably one year or more in the armed forces.

Congressman Lewis will supply application blanks.

MACKENZIE'S Column

BY DE WITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The thing which impresses me most about the latest developments in the Russo-Iranian imbroglio before the Security Council of the United Nations is that Iranian Ambassador Hussein Ala is either a very brave and wise man or he is a mighty misbegotten in his handling of this explosive case.

The council voted to continue on its agenda indefinitely the question of (1) whether Moscow has withdrawn its troops from Azerbaijan province in northwest Iran as promised, and (2) whether Russia is interfering with the internal affairs of the Tehran government. The vote was unanimous, excepting that Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko again boycotted the session.

The events which immediately preceded this vote are highly interesting, and perhaps also highly significant. Ambassador Ala appeared before the council and expressed doubt that all Soviet troops had left Iran. He also said that he had been instructed by his government to withdraw the other charges—that Moscow had interfered in Iranian affairs—and he thought it should stay on the agenda.

Now just a few hours before he made this statement, Hussein Ala had notified the council that he had received a telegram from Iranian Premier Qavam, at Tehran, saying a commission had failed to find any trace of Soviet troops on Persian soil. The premier asked that the question of withdrawal of Red troops be dropped by the council.

At the same time, Prince Firouz, Iranian propaganda minister, let loose a blast at Ala, declaring that all Russian troops were out of Iran, and that the ambassador spoke for himself and not for the government.

Well, now what's the significance of all this? Is Hussein Ala right or is he wrong? It is so contrary to practice that when an ambassador does outside the instructions issued by his government on such a highly important matter, it's time to sit up and take notice. But then the query immediately arises, of course, whether he actually is exceeding his instructions.

The very alert Hussein Ala might be serving his country very usefully if, for example, there were differences of opinion among the members of the government in Tehran regarding the Russian question, and some official high in power had advised the ambassador sub rosa to interpret developments according to his own best judgment. Of course, that would be a dangerous game for an envoy to play, because it might result in his recall.

However, that's all speculative. What is clear is that the Security Council apparently has no intention of dropping this case until it is ironed out.

Presumably the council members have in mind that it is their business to settle political disputes which might produce war. They can't wait until war starts before acting. If they temporize we shall have another failure such as is symbolized in the marble palace on the shore of Lake Geneva.

Mount Alumni Plan Centennial Meeting

ALLIANCE, May 24—Dr. Frank Durward Slutz, of Dayton, will be the speaker at the Mount Union college centennial luncheon for all alumni of Scio college and Mount Union college at 12:30 Saturday, June 1, in Memorial Hall.

Dr. Slutz, a graduate of Mount Union in 1904, is well known in educational circles throughout the country.

The reunion of Scio and Mount Union alumni is only one of the interesting events planned for the weekend of the centennial commencement celebration.

Of interest to many will be the presence of Dr. William H. McMaster, president emeritus of Mount Union, who will come from Coral Gables, Fla., to speak as the representative of the entire Mount Union alumni group.

Representing Scio college will be Dr. Battelle McCarty of Alliance, graduate of the class of 1890, who will give the invocation preceding the luncheon. Attorney James L.

Rural Women at District Home Extension Meeting

LISBON, May 24—Twenty rural women of Columbiana county, headed by Miss Erma Ramseyer, home demonstration agent, attended a district home extension conference in the First United Brethren church in Canton, Tuesday.

Miss Minnie Price, home demonstration agent of Ohio State university, was the speaker, addressing the representatives of six counties on the subject, "Building for better living in Rural Ohio."

Group singing led by Mrs. Roger Stafford of West township, and a discussion on family, civic, social and community life also featured the program.

Mrs. Charles Ream of Stark county is president of the district group, and Mrs. Russell Miller of Lisbon is secretary.

Those who attended the meeting from Columbiana county are:

Mrs. Abbie Burson, Mrs. Donald Hill, Mrs. Henry Siefke and Mrs. Mary Shaw, Center township; Mrs. Richard Stamo, Butler township; Mrs. Ida Rudibaugh, Elkrun township; Mrs. Kenneth Bell, Fairfield township; Mrs. Elvy Thompson, Franklin township; Mrs. Clifford Israel, Knox township; Mrs. R. R. Huston, Mrs. Glenn Bates and Mrs. Russell Miller, Salem township; Mrs. Harold Fox and Mrs. Kenneth Mollenkopf, Unity township; Mrs. Opal Hoover and Mrs. Helen With-crow, Washington township; Mrs. Roger Stafford, Mrs. C. F. Minding and Mrs. Fred Hahlen, West township and Mrs. George Hawkins, Perry township.

Says Horse Slaughtering Will Hit All-Time High

CHICAGO, May 24—Horse slaughtering in 1946, it was estimated at the Chicago stock yards today, will reach an all-time high, with more than 150,000 horses going on the butcher block for human consumption, more than double last year's total.

In 1940 packers under federal inspection slaughtered 18,750 horses. The total increased to 25,784 in 1941, to 28,846 in 1942 and to 56,436 in 1943. In 1944 it dropped to 52,063, but last year jumped to 77,887.

Packers under federal inspection killed 9,946 horses in April, highest for any month. About half of the product will be shipped overseas for relief of war ravaged countries.

Uranium worth $10,000 a ton was found in Manitoba.

Do your window frames leak cold or water? You can seal them with Plastic-Sele Caulk and save fuel. Does soot collect around inside window or door casings? Keep it out with Plastic-Sele. It is easy to apply with the 50c gun, and will save you much more than the nominal cost.

Ohio Grill Whips Jaycees, Sip N Bite Drops Furnacemen; Firestone Wins Over Lunchers On Shoe's 4-Run Homer

Bowling Center's Ritchie Tosses Fifth No-Hitter of Season Against Bingville

No-hit pitching is fast becoming a dime a dozen in Class A softball leagues this season with Bill Ritchie of the Bowling Center recording the fifth of the year as his team racked up a 9-0 win over Washingtonville in a four and one-half inning affair at Centennial park last night.

In the other National League game Bob Shoe, Firestone catcher, broke up an extra inning game with a homer with the sacks full, Firestone winning 8-4 over the Salem Lunch.

The Jaycees and Ohio Grill had a thrilling battle in the American league, the Grillers winning 3-2 on a final frame run. The Sip N Bite team, blessed with six Electric Furnace errors, walked off with a 12-2 nod in the other American loop game.

Young Bill Ritchie, who surprised everyone two weeks ago by locking the Salem China in his first start, added another feather to his pitching cap with a neat five inning no-hitter. He held the Bingville crew nicely, walking only three and fanning seven.

His mates backed him up with a seven hit barrage which included two homers besides his own. Both Dick Lantz and Bob Laughlin cracked out four-baggers. It was Lantz' second of the year.

"Blinky" Herron of Washingtonville had harder luck, walking two and fanning only one, but the four sacker barrage was too much for him.

With Paul Letcher on the mound for the first time for Firestone, the Tire men posted their first win in four starts in a thriller with a true Merriwell finish.

Letcher hurled excellent ball, allowing only two hits, walking eight and fanning a quartet. A Kelley, hurling for the Lunchers, allowed seven hits, walked six and whiffed a trio.

Shoe's second home run of the season came at exactly the right minute—in the last of the eighth with three runners aboard and the Firestone squad a run behind. Two men were away.

The Jaycees nearly pulled the game out of the fire in the final inning against the Grillers, but things cooled off a little too quickly and the one run rally died still a run short, 3-2.

John McQuiston, doing the mound assignment for the Jaycees, walked a man and fanned another, allowing only six Ohio Grill hits.

Jack Kink posted another win with a seven hit exhibition, walking a pair and fanning nine to put him to the front in the knockout division in the American loop.

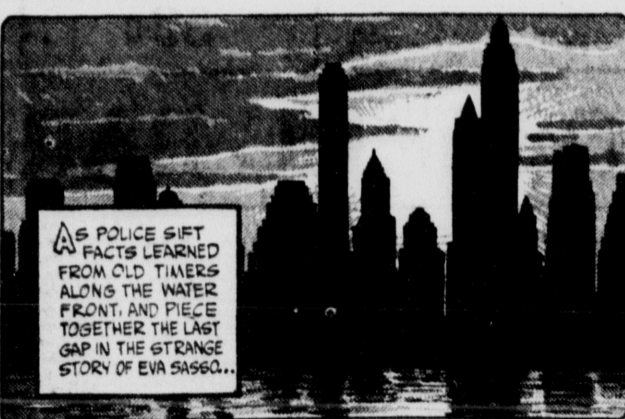

A very bad first inning proved fatal to the Electric Furnace team as the Sip N Bites collected five big runs to begin a 12-run total for the day. Only one hit was accounted for in the big initial spree, the rest of the runs coming on an interference play by the catcher, a walk and three errors.

Furnace man Harold Gray walked eight and fanned two and gave up only eight hits. The Sip N Bite's Wolf issued two walks, struck out three and allowed seven Furnacemen to hit.

INDIANS FINISH HOME STAND WITH 8 WINS, 6 LOSSES

Idle Today As Plane For St. Louis Is Held Up By ODT Rule

CLEVELAND, May 24 — The Cleveland Indians' first home stand of the season officially ended with a record of eight victories against six defeats, extended 24 hours today as Tribe officials searched for transportation to St. Louis.

Tribe Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh announced after yesterday's 3 to 2 victory over the league-leading Boston Red Sox that a scheduled plane flight to St. Louis had been cancelled under ODT regulations made effective following the rail strike.

Peckinpaugh said tonight's scheduled game with the St. Louis Browns was "definitely off" and asserted three other weekend games with St. Louis probably would be cancelled due to the Indians' inability to obtain plane or bus transportation.

Charley (Red) Embree limited the potent Sox to seven hits and three walks in hurling his fourth victory of the year yesterday as Rookie Gene Woodling of Akron, O., delivered a game-winning single to seal the triumph in the 10th inning.

Frank Hayes nearly knocked down Boston Third Baseman Glen Russell with a line smash which Russell barely snaged at the start of the 10th frame. Pat Seery cracked a line single to center, was sacrificed to second by Embree and Boudreau was purposely passed.

Woodling made his first hit of the day an important one by rifling a single off the right field wall, scoring Seery with the winning run of the grueling contest.

Bob Klinger, obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates, made his first start for Boston and yielded eight hits in six innings. Relief hurler Randy Heflin was charged with the loss.

EVEN WHISTLING SWANS LIKE THE INDIAN LAKE REFUGE AND ARE FINISH, SPENCER, obviously an old timer at the mat game and full of pranks that entertained the crowd far more than their favorite did, broke Martinelli's holds cleverly and with ease most of the way.

His only fault, as far as the crowd could see, was literally poking Martinelli's eyes out and making good use of the ropes when the "ref" was looking the other way. It paid off in interest.

George Strickland, who looked like the "Sinatra" of the mat, was tossed around enough by Jack Smithers in the opener to make most of the fans his buddies.

After he became the "man of the hour" with the howlers, he proceeded to toss 196-pound Smithers, a chubby villain, around considerably and finally won out in a single fall at 18 minutes and 13 seconds.

Spectators Have Big Time At Grunt and Groan Show In Memorial Building Gym

Grunts and groans and true mat drama filled the Memorial building gymnasium last night as some 250 enthusiastic wrestling fans watched a three-match show with obvious and boisterous pleasure.

Salem's Frank "Toar" Julian again proved invincible on the home cushions by tangling with—and failing to show mercy for—Alex Kasavoski, the 220-pound "Pitiless Pole" from Toronto, Canada.

Toar did the first fall in exactly 27 minutes and three seconds and rushed through the second pinning stunt in less than three minutes, hurling Kasavoski around like a man who had to catch a train.

Complete with a low opinion of Referee Clyde Stratton of Leetonia, Kasavoski used all the untidy tricks, thereby drawing the ire of most of the fans, especially the younger set.

Probably the best match on the card was the semi-final, which saw favorite Angelo Martinelli, 230-pound Portland, Ore., lad, pin "Gentleman" Jim Spencer in 25 minutes and three seconds.

Martinelli had the advantage over the time-taught Spencer just once in the battle and that was seconds before the finish. Spencer, obviously an old timer at the mat game and full of pranks that entertained the crowd far more than their favorite did, broke Martinelli's holds cleverly and with ease most of the way.

ARTIE LEVINE IN CLEVELAND MATCH

CLEVELAND, May 24—Artie Levine and Charley Padalino, two of the hardest-hitting middleweights in the game today, clash in the feature 10-round event of Tuesday's Arena swat show, a card studied with youngsters owning impressive records.

The Levine-Padalino go figures to resolve itself into an old-fashioned slugfest from the very outset since both battlers are easy to tag and they both resist trading punches. It is safe to predict that this melee will terminate in a knockout and it would occasion no surprise if both gladiators hit the deck during the milling.

Jimmy McDonough, the reigning sensation of the hit-and-miss business today, makes his local debut in the eight-round semi-final against Al Diaz, Mexican welterweight who "stole" the last show.

McDonough, an Irish kid from Brooklyn, has won 59 straight, 12 since his discharge from the Marine Corps. Diaz has emerged victorious in all of his seven American starts.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

Ohio Grill Whips Jaycees, Sip N Bite Drops Furnacemen; Firestone Wins Over Lunchers On Shoe's 4-Run Homer

Bowling Center's Ritchie Tosses Fifth No-Hitter of Season Against Bingville

No-hit pitching is fast becoming a dime a dozen in Class A softball leagues this season with Bill Ritchie of the Bowling Center recording the fifth of the year as his team racked up a 9-0 win over Washingtonville in a four and one-half inning affair at Centennial park last night.

In the other National league game Bob Shoe, Firestone catcher, broke up an extra inning game with a homer with the sacks full, Firestone winning 8-4 over the Salem Lunch.

The Jaycees and Ohio Grill had a thrilling battle in the American league, the Grillers winning 3-2 on a final frame run. The Sip N Bite team, blessed with six Electric Furnace errors, walked off with a 12-2 nod in the other American league game.

Young Bill Ritchie, who surprised everyone two weeks ago by licking the Salem China in his first start, added another feather to his pitching cap with a neat five inning no-hitter. He held the Bingville crew nicely, walking only three and fanning seven.

His mates backed him up with a seven hit barrage which included two homers besides the own. Both Dick Lantz and Bob Laughlin cracked out four-baggers. It was Lantz' second of the year.

"Blinky" Herron of Washingtonville had harder luck, walking two and fanning only one, but the four sacker barrage was too much for him.

With Paul Letcher on the mound for the first time for Firestone, the Tire men posted their first win in four starts in a thriller with a true Merriwell finish.

Letcher hurled excellent ball, allowing only two hits, walking eight and fanning a quartet. A Kelley, hurling for the Lunchers, allowed seven hits, walked six and whiffed a trio.

Shoe's second home run of the season came at exactly the right minute—in the last of the eighth with three runners aboard and the Firestone squad a run behind.

The Jaycees nearly pulled the game out of the fire in the final inning against the Grillers, but things cooled off a little too quickly and the one run rally died still a run short, 3-2.

John McQuiston, doing the mound assignment for the Jaycees, walked a man and fanned another, allowing only six Ohio Grill hits.

Jack Kink posted another win with a seven hit exhibition, walking a pair and fanning nine to put him to the front in the strikeout division in the American league.

A very bad first inning proved fatal to the Electric Furnace team as the Sip N Bites collected five big runs to begin a 12-run total for the day. Only one hit was accounted for in the big initial spree, the rest of the runs coming on an interference play by the catcher, a walk and three errors.

Furnacemen Harold Gray walked eight and fanned two and gave up only eight hits. The Sip N Bite's Wolf issued two walks, struck out three and allowed seven Furnacemen to hit.

INDIANS FINISH HOME STAND WITH 8 WINS, 6 LOSSES

Idle Today As Plane For St. Louis Is Held Up By ODT Rule

CLEVELAND, May 24.—The Cleveland Indians' first home stand of the season, officially ended with a record of eight victories against six defeats, extended 24 hours today as Tribe officials searched for transportation to St. Louis.

Tribe Vice President Roger Peckinpaugh announced after yesterday's 3 to 2 victory over the league-leading Boston Red Sox that a scheduled plane flight to St. Louis had been cancelled under ODT regulations made effective following the rail strike.

Plane Cancelled

Peckinpaugh said tonight's scheduled game with the St. Louis Browns was "definitely off," and asserted three other weekend games with St. Louis probably would be cancelled due to the Indians' inability to obtain plane or bus transportation.

Charley (Red) Embree limited the potent Sox to seven hits and three walks in hurling his fourth victory of the year yesterday as Rookie Gene Woodling of Akron, O., delivered a game-winning single to seal the triumph in the 10th inning.

Spencer, obviously an old timer at the mat game and full of pranks that entertained the crowd far more than their favorite did, broke Martinelli's holds cleverly and with ease most of the way.

His only fault, as far as the crowd could see, was literally poking Martinelli's eyes out and making good use of the ropes when the "ref" was looking the other way. It paid off in interest.

George Strickland, who looked like the "Sinatra" of the mat, was tossed around enough by Jack Smithers in the opener to make most of the fans his buddies.

After he became the "man of the hour" with the howlers, he proceeded to toss 196-pound Smithers, a chubby villain, around considerably and finally won out in a single fall at 18 minutes and 13 seconds.

Stratton, brother of the former Leontia wrestler, completed a nice job in the ring, keeping active and on his toes, but missing enough to become labeled "blind" by the fans, who had a great time through the entire affair.

ARTIE LEVINE IN CLEVELAND MATCH

CLEVELAND, May 24.—Artie Levine and Charley Padalino, two of the hardest-hitting middleweights in the game today, clash in the feature 10-round event of Tuesday's Arena swat show, a card studded with youngsters owning impressive records.

The Levine-Padalino go figures to resolve itself into an old-fashioned slugfest from the very outset since both battlers are easy to tag and they both resist trading punches. It is safe to predict that this melee will terminate in a knockout and it would occasion no surprise if both gladiators hit the deck during the milling.

Jimmy McDonough, the reigning sensation of the hit-and-miss business today, makes his local debut in the eight-round semi-final against Al Diaz, Mexican welterweight who "stole" the last show.

McDonough, an Irish kid from Brooklyn, has won 59 straight, 12 since his discharge from the Marine Corps. Diaz has emerged victorious in all of his seven American starts.

Opportunities to buy to advantage are found daily in The News classified advertising columns.

Salem Texacos Meet Struthers Sunday

The Salem Texacos, member of the Inter-City AA baseball league, are scheduled to play the Struthers Nebo outfit at Struthers at 3 p. m. Sunday.

Lowellville defeated the Salem club in a game here last week.

All players on the local club are asked to be at Centennial park at 2 p. m. Saturday for a practice session.

Class B Softball To Begin On Monday

Class B softball play is scheduled to begin at the field adjoining Reilly stadium at 5:45 p. m. Monday with at least an eight-team league in operation. It was learned last night at a meeting of team managers at the Memorial building.

Teams and managers who were represented included: Salem Theatres

HOMEWORTH

Possibility of the Construction of a playground as a memorial was discussed at a community meeting held at Homeworth hall. Those named on the committee were Rev. Thomas Holmes, Rev. John Bench, Paul Hoffman, Mrs. William Wymer, John Pickens, Walter McQuilkin, Dr. Frank Lindsey, George Irwin and Mrs. Arlie Toole.

The meeting was opened with singing a verse of "America." Invocation was offered by Rev. Holmes.

The first business act of the group was creating the Homeworth Community association which will devote itself to projects of civic interest and concern.

schools will be held at the Lutheran church at North Georgetown at 8 p. m. Friday.

Rev. Robert Diller, pastor of the Immanuel Evangelical and Reformed church of Alliance will deliver the address. A program will be presented by the class.

Diplomas will be presented by Edward Braid, president of the board of education. There are 25 graduates.

Mrs. Albert Stoffer is a patient in the Alliance City hospital.

James O. Cameron has returned to Homeworth after spending the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stump are the parents of a son born at the Alliance City hospital.

Lowell Heestand is home from the Massillon City hospital where he underwent surgery.

In the human family, quadruplets can be expected about once in every 658,500 births, according to estimates.

Clark Says Black Markets Becoming Big Problem

WASHINGTON, May 24—Attorney General Tom Clark said today black markets were becoming as extensive as bootlegging during prohibition.

Addressing the opening session of the United States attorneys' general crime conference, Clark said "it's up to us to put a stop to this problem."

First Poet Laureate

The first poet to assume the title of poet laureate of England was Geoffrey Chaucer, who, in 1389, received a royal grant of a yearly allowance of wine as one of the prerequisites of office.

Munitions ate up most of the $250,000,000,000 expended during World War 1.
